

Chairman: Did you know that “Bolgar” was using?

Accused: I did.

Chairman: Does “Bolgar” have the money?

Accused: I don’t know.

Chairman: Did you know about other valuables?

Accused: No.

Chairman: Why were you searching for two medals?

Accused: We found the certificates during the initial search.

“Sedoi”: What for?

Accused: It had value for me, I’m a collector.

“Sedoi”: Do you know the detention procedure? Why didn’t you follow it?

Accused: The owner was not home.

“Sedoi”: Why didn’t you follow it?

Accused: There was no order.

“Sedoi”: Why didn’t you report it earlier?

Accused: At first, we didn’t want to. Then we searched the premises and found a package in the barn (knives and sabers). Then we decided to enter the house. We weren’t interested in the valuables.

Chairman: Who gave the order to detain the victim in the cellar?

Accused: I don’t know.

“Nos”: Who?

Accused: I don’t know.

Chairman: What did “Piter” have to do with it?

Accused: (keeps silence)

Chairman: Did you make the detention?

Accused: “Bolgar” and “Gera” were talking to the owner. I didn’t know what about. My task was to provide guard and leave.

Chairman: Why did you take the valuables then?

Accused: It was an order.

Chairman: Whose order?

Accused: My commander’s.
